Note 4: Financial Guarantees and Financial Instruments with Off-Balance Sheet Risk

Ginnie Mae receives a guaranty fee from issuers which is calculated based on the unpaid principal balance of outstanding MBS in the non-defaulted issuer portfolio. It is Ginnie Mae's compensation for taking on the risk of providing the guaranty to MBS investors for the timely payment of principal and interest in the event of issuer default.

Ginnie Mae recognizes a guaranty asset upon issuance of a guaranty for the expected present value of these guaranty fees. The guaranty liability is a non-contingent guaranty liability for Ginnie Mae's obligation to stand ready to perform on the guaranty. The guaranty liability recognized on the Balance Sheets is $5,963.1 million and $7,012.9 million as of September 30, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

In addition to the guaranty liability, Ginnie Mae recognizes a MBS loss liability, which is contingent liability for estimable and probable losses in relation to these guarantees (i.e., MBS Loss Liability). The MBS loss liability recognized on the Balance Sheets is $735.4 million and $700.3 million as of September 30, 2014 and 2013, respectively.

For the guarantee asset and liability recognized on the Balance Sheets, Ginnie Mae's maximum potential exposure under these guarantees is primarily comprised of the amount of MBS securities outstanding. On September 30, 2014, the amount of securities outstanding, which is guaranteed by Ginnie Mae, was $1.5 trillion, including $0.4 million of Ginnie Mae-guaranteed MBS. However, Ginnie Mae's potential loss is considerably less because of the financial strength of its issuers. Additionally, in the event of default of an issuer, the underlying mortgages serve as primary collateral, and FHA, USDA, VA, and PIH insurance or guaranty indemnifies Ginnie Mae for most losses. The Ginnie Mae guaranteed security is a pass-through security whereby mortgage principal and interest payments, except for servicing and guaranty fees, are passed through to the security holders monthly. Mortgage prepayments are also passed through to security holders. As a result of the security's structure, Ginnie Mae bears no interest rate or liquidity risk. Ginnie Mae's exposure to credit loss is contingent on the nonperformance of Ginnie Mae issuers. Other than those issuers considered in the MBS loss liability, Ginnie Mae does not anticipate nonperformance by its other counterparties. The approximate term of the guarantee is 15-30 years. The maximum term is capped at 40 years.

Ginnie Mae is also subject to credit risk for its outstanding commitments to guarantee MBS which are not reflected in its Balance Sheets. The fair values of these commitments are an unrecognized MBS commitment for financial statement purposes. During the mortgage closing period and prior to granting its guaranty, Ginnie Mae enters into commitments to guaranty MBS. The commitment ends when the securities are issued or the commitment period expires. Ginnie Mae's risk related to outstanding commitments is much less than for the outstanding balance of MBS commitments due in part to Ginnie Mae's ability to limit commitment authority granted to individual MBS issuers. Outstanding MBS and commitments were as follows:

	September 30
(Dollars in billions)	2014	2013
Outstanding MBS	$ 1,526.5	$ 1,457.1
Outstanding MBS Commitments	$ 97.8	$ 118.1
